Statement of Principal Terms of Employment

Issued in accordance with the employment-rights legislation. Employer: Halewick Systems Ltd ("the Company"). Employee: Theo Marchbank. Payroll reference: HAL/2214.

Job title	Senior Platform Engineer, Platform Engineering
Start date	4 August 2025. No employment with a previous employer counts towards continuous employment.
Salary	£37,554 (thirty-seven thousand five hundred and fifty-four pounds) per annum, payable monthly in arrears on or around the 25th of each month by credit transfer, subject to deductions for tax and National Insurance. Salaries are reviewed annually in April; a review does not guarantee an increase.
Hours of work	37.5 hours per week, Monday to Friday. The Company operates hybrid working: you are expected to attend a minimum of two days each week at the London office. Occasional additional hours may be needed to meet the needs of the business; no overtime is payable, but time off in lieu may be agreed for sustained out-of-hours work, including scheduled on-call participation which attracts the allowance set out in the Platform Engineering on-call policy.
Place of work	6 Farrier Court, London EC2Y 9QX, and your home address when working remotely. You will not be required to work outside the UK for more than one month at a time.
Holiday	25 days per holiday year (January to December) plus public holidays, accruing pro rata in your first year. Up to five unused days may be carried into the first quarter of the following year.
Sickness	Statutory sick pay is payable in accordance with legislation. In addition, after probation the Company pays full salary for up to four weeks of certified sickness absence in any rolling twelve months, inclusive of statutory entitlement.
Pension	You will be enrolled in the Company's workplace pension scheme. The Company contributes 5% of qualifying earnings, and the standard employee contribution is 4%, which you may vary within scheme rules.
Probation	The first three months are a probationary period, during which either party may end the employment on one week's written notice. The Company may extend probation once, by up to three months, where performance or attendance needs further assessment.
Notice	After probation, the notice required from either party is one month's written notice, rising by one week for each complete year of service after four years, up to the statutory maximum. The Company may pay in lieu of notice, and may place you on garden leave for all or part of any notice period.
Confidentiality	You must not, during or after your employment, use or disclose any confidential information of the Company or its customers except in the proper performance of your duties or as required by law. Nothing in this clause prevents a protected disclosure under whistleblowing legislation.
Intellectual property	Inventions, software, designs and other works created by you in the course of your duties belong to the Company to the fullest extent permitted by law, and you agree to do what is reasonably necessary (at the Company's expense) to perfect its title. Personal open-source contributions made outside your duties and without Company confidential information are unaffected; the Engineering open-source policy explains the approvals needed for contributions connected with your work.
Collective agreements	None apply to this employment.

Grievance and discipline	The Company's grievance and disciplinary procedures (which do not form part of your contract) are in the Staff Handbook. Raise a grievance in writing with the Head of People; appeals against disciplinary decisions go to a director not previously involved.
Benefits	Group life assurance of two times salary; an annual personal-development budget administered by your manager; and a cycle-purchase salary-sacrifice scheme. Benefits other than salary and pension are discretionary and may be varied on reasonable notice.

By signing you accept the offer on the terms above, confirm the information given in your application is true, and authorise the Company to take up references. This document is executed electronically — see the Signature Log at the front.
